

Hand Cart

The assignment

Hand carts are often used to move small loads in confined places. One area of use is in libraries to move rows of heavy books from one area to another. They need to be able to carry quite heavy loads, so they must be stable and highly maneuverable.

Your task is to design and build a hand cart that could be used in a large library to move as many books and in as confined a space as possible.